CONDITIONS OF SALE.

FIRST.—The highest bidder to be the buyer ; and if any dispute arise between two or more bidders, the lot so in dispute shall be immediately put up again and resold, provided the auctioneer cannot decide the said dispute.

SECOND.—No person to advance less than 1s. ; above five pounds, 5s. ; and so on in proportion.

THIRD.—In the case of lots upon which there is a reserve, the auctioneer shall have the right to bid on behalf of the seller.

FOURTH.—The purchasers to give in their names and places of abode, and to pay down 5s. in the pound, or more in part of payment, or the whole of the purchase-money, if required ; in default of which the lot or lots so purchased to be immediately put up again and resold.

FIFTH.—Each lot is believed to be genuine, but should any lot prove to be a forgery, or reprint, or wrongly described in the catalogue, the purchaser is at liberty to take or reject it, provided always that notice of such rejection be made and the lot returned within seven days from date of sale.

SIXTH.—To prevent inaccuracy in delivery, and inconvenience in the settlement of the purchases, no lot can on any account be removed during the time of sale, and the remainder of the purchase-money must absolutely be paid on the delivery.

SEVENTH.—Upon failure of complying with the above conditions, the money deposited in part of payment shall be forfeited ; all lots uncleared within three days, may be resold by public or private sale, and the deficiency (if any) attending such resale shall be made good by the defaulter at this sale.

EIGHTH.—The auctioneers will not hold themselves responsible for any action that may arise, acting solely as agents between buyer and seller and for both equitably.

A Collection of Greek Antiquities illustrating Ancient MEDICINE AND HYGIENE.

The Property of a Gentleman.

MEDICINE AND SURGERY.

- 121 Marble head of Asklepios, god of healing and patron of doctors. Height of head 1·9in. About 300 B.C. From Tricca 1

* * * Tricca in Thessaly, the first home of scientific medicine, was the legendary birth-place of Asklepios and the site of a famous temple in his honour, where therapeutics were practised.

- 8/11/12 (122) ✓
HMH A beautiful engraved Chalcedony, 0·9in. long, with head of Asklepios in intaglio; and a plaster cast from same. About 200 B.C. 2

- 123 A Greek druggist's ladle in silver, 11in. long, the handle ending in a swan's head. A beautiful and rare object (the bowl slightly repaired). About 400 B.C. From Tricca 1

- 124 Three Greek druggists' spoons for measuring small doses, one in bronze, two in ivory, the largest engraved with three marks indicating its capacity, probably "three grammata." About 400 B.C. From Tricca 3

- 125 Two Greek druggists' weights in hard stone, marked :: and ∴ respectively. Weight about 4 and 3oz. About 400 B.C. 2

- 126 Four little bowls, each with two handles, from the site of the temple of Asklepios at Tricca, they were probably used as cupping-vessels. Diameter from 2·3 to 1·6in. About 300 B.C. 4

- 127 Votive figurine in terra-cotta, from Tricca, a mother and child, height 4·7in. Very delicate work. The figure was probably dedicated to the god after a successful childbirth. About 350 B.C. 1

- 128 Another, from Tricca, a boy with the toothache, he is crouching and supporting his cheek on his hand. Height 2'8in. Probably dedicated after a successful extraction. About 350 B.C. 1
- 129 A pathological figure in bronze, representing a deformed dwarf, his cranium drilled in two places, suggesting trepanning. Perfect preservation, fine patina. Height 3'5in. Greek, about 200 B.C. 1

HYGIENE.

- 130 A beautiful terra-cotta statuette, 7'2in. high, representing Hygieia, goddess of Health, daughter of Asklepios, she is gracefully draped and holds a dish of fruit in her left hand. From Thessaly. About 350 B.C. 1
- 131 An ancient alabastron, or "soap-bottle," of Corinthian fabric, painted with two seated cats, the Greeks used oil instead of soap for washing, and their alabastra were made to be carried with a string-handle. Height 8'2in. About 600 B.C. Found at Corinth 1
- (5/1) (132) Another, smaller, and of the type which athletes carried, slung on their wrists, to baths and gymnasiums, painted with cock and swan, birds sacred to Asklepios and Apollo (gods of Health and Light). Height 3'4in. About 600 B.C. Found at Corinth 1
H.M.M.
- 133 An athlete's engraved bronze strygil, or scraper; after oil had been applied to the body, oil and dirt were scraped off with a strygil. Length 8'6in. Very rare and a beautifully preserved specimen. About 600 B.C. Found at Corinth 1

- (5/1) (134) A Greek baby's feeding-bottle found in a child's tomb near Athens; it is of black-glazed terra-cotta, and fitted with a nipple-shaped spout in front and a handle at one side, the top is covered in, but pierced with holes so that air can get to the milk, but no flies. Diameter over handle, 3'7in. An extremely rare type of vessel. About 450 B.C. 1
H.M.M.

- 135 A child's small milk-jug, from the same tomb as the last, black-glazed terra-cotta, on which a design in white and pink shows a small child on all fours, playing with a dog. Height 2.5in. A beautiful little vase. About 450 B.C. 1
